Mark Ashworth

Mark's involvement with the pensions world started in 1994 when, after five years as an in-house lawyer with the NatWest Group, he became the Secretary to the NatWest Pension Scheme Trustees. After a brief intermission as Group Legal Adviser and Company Secretary at Lombard North Central PLC (part of the NatWest Group) he was appointed Head of Group Pensions for NatWest. In this role he dealt with pensions policy issues and was also responsible for the in-house administration of the main NatWest schemes.

Mark joined Law Debenture in April 2001. He serves on the trustee boards of a number of schemes of differing sizes, and also chairs several groups of trustees.

Mark is responsible for Law Debenture's pension scheme trusteeship activity. Mark is a member of the Council of the Society of Pension Consultants, and served as President from 2006-2008. Mark is also a Governor of The Pensions Policy Institute.
